

Four families of effect, each with its own corner of the device model, and each taken separately in the sections that follow. Below about 100 nm every one of them is first order.