

the host shorts the capacitor and lets go; the ramp then runs once, so one pulse comes out per reset and its width is the observable